

Scott W. Aalgard

Wesleyan, Asst. Prof. of East Asian Studies Singer-songwriters and critical praxis in modern and contemporary Japan saalgaard@wesleyan.edu

Marié Abe

BU, Asst. Prof. of Music Intersection of sound, public space, and social difference in contemporary Japanese urban life through ethnographic analysis of chindon-ya
marieabe@bu.edu

Michael T. Abele

UNC-Chapel Hill, Research Collaborator, Dept. of Asian Studies Social history of outcaste groups during the Tokugawa mtabele@gmail.com

Barbara R. Ambros

UNC Chapel Hill, Prof. of East Asian Religions Animals and religion in contemporary Japan; the life and teachings of a contemporary Shinshu healer bambros@email.unc.edu

Galen D. Amstutz

Independent Scholar; Adj. Faculty, Inst. of Buddhist Studies Transition of Shin Buddhism from Tokugawa to Meiji amstutzgalen@gmail.com

Marnie S. Anderson

Smith, Assoc. Prof. of History Social and political history of Meiji Japan msanders@smith.edu

Anna V. Andreeva

Heidelberg Univ., Heidelberg Centre for Transcultural Studies, Research Fellow in Japanese History Japanese religions, cultural history, Buddhism, Shinto, history of medicine andreeva@asia-europe.uni-heidelberg.de

Yuko Aoyama

Clark, Prof. of Geography; Assoc. Provost and Dean of Research, Office of Academic Affairs Japan's regional policy and role of aging population; Social innovation and social entrepreneurship yaoyama@clarku.edu

Bruce P. Baird

UMass Amherst, Assoc. Prof. of Japanese Butoh
baird@umass.edu

Mikael Bauer

McGill, Asst. Prof. of Japanese Religions Japanese premodern Buddhism and history mikael.bauer@mcgill.ca

Jeffrey P. Bayliss

Trinity, Assoc. Prof. of History; Chair, Department of History History and perception of Korean athletes who participated in Japanese sports during the colonial period jeffrey.bayliss@trincoll.edu

Thomas U. Berger

BU, Assoc. Prof. of International Relations
The U.S. alliance system in Europe and East Asia in comparison tuberger@bu.edu

Rosemarie Bernard

Waseda, Assoc. Prof. of Anthropology and Japanese Studies Anthropology of religion and ritual; Legal Anthropology; Shinto; Ise Jingû; Emperorship rbernard@waseda.jp

Joanne R. Bernardi

Rochester, Prof. of Japanese and Film and Media Studies Re-Envisioning Japan (digital humanities project); Itami Juzō monograph; two co-edited volumes (Japanese cinema, provenance and early cinema) joanne.bernardi@rochester.edu

Laura E. Bernhart-Wong

Ind. Scholar; FFD Koordinatorin, German Foreign Ministry Informal Sino-German diplomatic relations lwong@post.harvard.edu

Victoria Lyon Bestor

Executive Director, North American Coordinating Council on Japanese Library Resources Library resources; development of new internet-based Open Source materials on Japan in support of undergraduate education vbester@fas.harvard.edu

Phyllis Birnbaum

Independent Scholar; Writer, Editor Biography of Okakura Tenshin phyllis.birnbaum@gmail.com

Herbert P. Bix

SUNY Binghamton, Prof. Emeritus of History and Sociology America's path to perpetual war, 1820s-present hbix@binghamton.edu

Thomas S. Blackwood

Tokyo Int'l Univ., Inst. for International Strategy, Prof. of Sociology Asylum seekers, visa-overstayers, and foreigners convicted of crimes in Japan tsblackwood@gmail.com

Verena K. Blechinger-Talcott

Free Univ. of Berlin, Prof. of Japanese Politics and Political Economy
Patterns of modernity in East Asia; collaborative project on the emergence of global governance due to epidemics vblechin@zedat.fu-berlin.de

Mark L. Blum

UC Berkeley, Prof. and Shinjo Ito Distinguished Chair in Japanese Studies
Nenbutsu history; Edo-period Tannisho commentaries; Seishinshugi philosophy in modern Japan mblum@berkeley.edu

Robert Borgen

UC Davis, Prof. Emeritus of East Asian Languages & Culture Heian Sino-Japanese cultural relations rborgen@ucdavis.edu

Daniel Botsman

Yale, Prof. of History Emancipation in 19th-century Japan; translations of recent work on Tokugawa social history daniel.botsman@yale.edu

Ethan D. Bushelle

Western Washington, Asst. Prof., Department of Global Humanities and Religion
The Mandalization of the World: Esoteric Buddhism and the Reconfiguration of the Classical Imaginary ethan.bushelle@wwu.edu

Anne C. Buxton

Market Insights Director, EF Education First History of Japanese Americans who weathered the years of WWII on Japanese soil annecarlton@gmail.com

Patrick Caddeau

Princeton, Dean of Forbes College Study of ways in which environmental factors and critical inquiry have shaped national identity caddeau@princeton.edu

Gavin J. Campbell

Doshisha, Prof. of American Studies Transnational history of Japanese menswear, 1600-1935 gcampbel@mail.doshisha.ac.jp

Matthew M. Carlson

Univ. of Vermont, Prof. of Political Science Campaign finance; Political corruption; Scandals, matthew.carlson@uvm.edu

Haeng-ja Sachiko Chung

Okayama Univ., Inst. of Global Human Resource Development, Assoc. Prof.
Semi-refugees, disaster, and marginalization hchung@okayama-u.ac.jp

Ellen P. Conant

Independent Scholar
Continuation of reappraisal of lives/careers of Ernest/Mary Fenollosa
epconant1@gmail.com

Ian Condry

MIT, Prof. of Comparative Media Studies/Writing Ethnographic study of music and musicians after the end of the recording industry: Tokyo, Boston, Berlin condry@mit.edu

Thomas D. Conlan

Princeton, Prof. of East Asian Studies and History A study of the Ouchi daimyo house and their political, ritual, economic and social significance tconlan@princeton.edu

Theodore F. Cook

William Patterson, Prof. of History; Director, Asian Studies War and memory in shaping Japanese culture cookt@wpunj.edu

Teruko Craig

Tufts, Senior Lecturer Emerita in Japanese Translating essays by Fukuzawa Yukichi acraig@fas.harvard.edu

Michael P. Cronin

William and Mary, Assoc. Prof. of Japanese Alternate histories; Kansai region; 1995 in literature and popular culture mpcronin@wm.edu

Jennifer Cullen

Northeastern, Adjunct Prof., Department of Cultures, Societies, and Global Studies Father-daughter incest in Japanese manga jenniferkw8@gmail.com

Michael A. Cusumano

MIT Sloan School, Sloan Management Review Distinguished Prof. of Management Japanese corporate entrepreneurship cusumano@mit.edu

Brett de Bary

Cornell, Prof. of Asian Studies and Comparative Literature Translation as practice and theory in the works of Tawada Yoko, Morisaki Kazue, Lee Chonghwa, and Ukai Satoshi bmd2@cornell.edu

Wiebke Denecke

BU, Assoc. Prof. of East Asian Literatures and Comparative Literature
History of early Japanese literary culture through Chinese and Korean eyes denecke@bu.edu

Jennifer F. deWinter

WPI, Assoc. Prof. of Rhetoric; Director, Interactive Media and Game Development Program Japanese game studies, game development; Japanese urban renewal and sustainability (Kyoto) jdewinter@wpi.edu

Frederick R. Dickinson

UPenn, Prof. of History Global history of modern Japan frdickin@sas.upenn.edu

Rachel DiNitto

Univ. of Oregon, Prof. of Japanese Literature Cultural responses to the 2011 triple disaster in literature, film, manga rdinitto@uoregon.edu

Eric Dinmore

Hampton-Sydney, Elliot Assoc. Prof. of History Monograph on resource anxieties in 20th-century Japan, legacies of the co-prosperity sphere in Japan's aid to Indonesia's oil industry; monograph on Kurobe Dam edinmore@hsc.edu

Sharon H. Domier

UMass Amherst, East Asian Studies Librarian Reading techniques that will enable students to read authentic foreign language materials more confidently sdomier@umass.edu

James Dorsey

Dartmouth, Assoc. Prof. of Japanese Japan in the 1960s; music and social movements; Japan's wartime culture; translation james.dorsey@dartmouth.edu

John W. Dower

MIT, Prof. Emeritus of History
U.S.-Japan relations; recent publication The Violent American Century: War and Terror Since World War II

Fabian Drixler

Yale, Prof. of History
Demographic history and history of mentalities, especially with regard to social change in the 17th century fabian.drixler@yale.edu

Edward R. Drott

Sophia, Assoc. Prof. of Japanese Religions Buddhist medicine in premodern Japan; Religion and the senses e-drott-5mc@sophia.ac.jp

Alexis Dudden

UConn, Prof. of History
The current trend toward territorialization of sovereignty through Japan's island disputes alexis.dudden@uconn.edu

Steven J. Ericson

Dartmouth, Assoc. Prof. of History Business reform in occupied Japan steven.ericson@dartmouth.edu

Margarita Estévez-Abe

Syracuse, Assoc. Prof. of Political Science Demographic aging, gender, social policy, electoral politics mestev02@maxwell.syr.edu

William R. Farrell

Honorary Consul, Japan for Rhode Island Currently representing Japan and lecturing at RI universities and colleges re: Japan wrfarrell@aol.com

Matthieu Felt

Univ. of Florida, Asst. Prof. of Japanese, Dept. of Languages, Literatures and Cultures Reception of classical Japanese literature Matthieu.felt@gmail.com

William D. Fleming

UC Santa Barbara, Asst. Prof. of Japanese Literature Early modern Japanese literature; reception of Chinese fiction in Japan wffleming@eastasian.ucsb.edu

Lawrence Fouraker

St. John Fisher College, Assoc. Prof. of History Political economy of interwar Japan lfouraker@sjfc.edu

Matthew P. Fraleigh

Brandeis, Assoc. Prof. of East Asian Literature and Culture Sinitic literature (kanshi) in Edo/Meiji Japan; Japan-Taiwan cultural interaction fraleigh@brandeis.edu

Sarah A. Frederick

BU, Assoc. Prof. of Japanese and Comparative Literature Book about Yoshiya Nobuko; digital humanities project on Natsume Soseki's Kyoto
sfred@bu.edu

Nicole Freiner

Bryant, Assoc. Prof. of Political Science Local responses to the repeal of the seed law in Japan nfreiner@bryant.edu

Naomi Fukumori

Ohio State, Assoc. Prof. of Japanese Literature and Culture Depictions of ritual and ceremony as mise-en-scène in mid-Heian period vernacular texts.
fukumori.1@osu.edu

(CG 8-15-19)