

RIJS CONFERENCE TRAVEL GRANTS

The Edwin O. Reischauer Institute of Japanese Studies (RIJS) will provide small grants (up to $800) for Harvard graduate students in any field of Japanese studies in the humanities or social sciences to help defray the cost of attending scholarly conferences where they present papers or serve as panel discussants.

For AY2022-23, RIJS will provide conference grant support for those who present a paper or serve as a panel discussant, for virtual conference attendance registration fees or for travel to a conference, limited to travel, lodging, and registration fees. Please note that all support related to travel must follow current Harvard University travel guidelines and safety protocols before, during and after travel. Please see the following sites for the most up-to-date guidance: Harvard Travel Guidance and Harvard GSS COVID-19 Travel Advice.

APPLICATION PROCESS: Please email a complete application consisting of the following:

1. Short proposal with dates, name and description of conference, type of participation, description of your research, and how it relates to this conference, title of your paper being presented and an itemized budget. Please designate other sources of funding for this proposal (if applicable). Indicate name of faculty advisor supporting this proposal.
2. Email endorsement from faculty advisor supporting the proposal.
Advisor must email a brief endorsement directly to <cglover@fas.harvard.edu>
Please let me know whom the faculty advisor is that I should expect a support email from.
3. Curriculum vitae – include:
 - Citizenship (indicate permanent residency, if applicable)
 - Current/permanent address, telephone number(s), email address(es)
 - Academic department; field of study; and year of graduate study (G Year)
