

Wako Tawa

Amherst, Prof. of Asian Languages and Civilizations; Director of Language Study Japanese synonyms; Japanese grammar for learners of Japanese as a foreign language wtawa@amherst.edu

Elizabeth ten Grotenhuis

BU, Prof. Emerita for Japanese Art History Japanese Buddhist Art etengrotenhuis@gmail.com

Ayumi Teraoka

Brandeis, Assistant Professor of Politics International Security, Alliance Politics, Grand Strategy, East Asia, Japan ateraoka@brandeis.edu

Sarah Thompson

MFA, Curator of Japanese Art Ukiyo-e prints and drawings in the MFA collection sthompson@mfa.org

Michael Thornton

Northeastern, Asst. Teaching Prof. in History History of colonial urbanization; urban public history m.thornton@northeastern.edu

Jonathan E. Thumas

Yale, Postdoctoral Associate, Council on East Asian Studies,
The archaeology of mountain religion and provincial society in medieval Japan jonathanethumas@gmail.com

R. Kenji Tierney

SUNY-College at New Paltz, Lecturer, Dept. of Anthropology Sumo, sports, body, consumption, food, history, anthropology, identity, gender r.kenji.tierney@gmail.com

Alice Y. Tseng

BU, Prof. of History of Art & Architecture; CAS Assoc. Dean of Faculty for Humanities Japan: history of exhibits; history of world's fairs; architecture of national exhibits aytseng@bu.edu

Yolanda A. Tsuda

Kobe College, Prof. Emeritus of Global Studies Jose Rizal in Love in Japan, 1888 and the Hunt for his Japanese Girlfriend, 1930 -1961 alfatsu@mail.kobe-c.ac.jp

Mary Evelyn Tucker

Yale School of the Environment, Retired Senior Lecturer and Senior Research Scholar Religion and ecology maryevelyn.tucker@yale.edu

Timothy J. Van Compernelle

Amherst, Prof. of Japanese Interactions between the worlds of literature and film in interwar Japan, 1918-1939. tvancompernelle@amherst.edu

Floris van Swet

Northumbria, Postdoctoral Research Fellow
The intersection between migration and innovation floris.vanswet@northumbria.ac.uk; f.p.vanswet@gmail.com

Elena Varshavskaya

Rhode Island School of Design, Senior Lecturer ukiyo-e prints as historic documents evارشav@risd.edu

Alexander M. Vesey

Meiji Gakuin, Assoc. Prof. of Global & Transcultural Studies Early modern Japanese Buddhist social history avesey@k.meijigakuin.ac.jp

James Keith Vincent

BU, Assoc. Prof. of Japanese and Comparative Literature Natsume Soseki and Masaoka Shiki; haiku and the novel kvincent@bu.edu

Mariko N. Walter

Independent Scholar, Executive Director of ACANSRS
The Lotus Sutra and the Silk Road mnbwalter@gmail.com

Chelsea Ward

Colgate, Visiting Professor Japanese Intersection of Japanese modernism, emergent media in the interwar period, sensory history ccmward@colgate.edu

Garrett L. Washington

UMass Amherst, Assoc. Prof. of History History of Japanese religions in imperial and postwar Japan; Japanese women's history gWASHINGTON@umass.edu

Takeshi Watanabe

Wesleyan, Assoc. Prof. of East Asian Studies Representations of food in the Heian period twatanabe@wesleyan.edu

Robert J. Weiner

Naval Postgraduate School, Lecturer , Dept. of Nat'l Security Affairs Domestic politics (connections to security policy) in Japan, Korea, and East /Southeast Asia robert.j.weiner@gmail.com

Victoria Weston

UMass Boston, Prof. of Art History Key ideas inspiring new developments in Japanese tradition-based painting in late nineteenth-century Tokyo victoria.weston@umb.edu

Merry White

BU, Prof. of Anthropology Ethnography of Japanese whisky industry corkela2@gmail.com

Ellen B. Widmer

Wellesley, Mayling Soong Prof. of Chinese Studies Emerita Women's writings in conjunction with a men's literary society; Music ewidmer@wellesley.edu

Michael A. Witt

King's College London, Prof. of International Business and Strategy Deglobalization, decoupling, international business and geopolitics; role of Japan in these developments Michael.witt@kcl.ac.uk

David Wittner

Utica College, Prof. of East Asian History Meiji industrialization, visual and material culture dwittner@utica.edu

Aida Yuen Wong

Brandeis, Assoc. Prof. of Asian Art China-Japan relations and transnationalism; Nakamura Fusetsu and his circle of Japanese calligraphers who popularized metal-and-stone aesthetic in late 19th and early 20th centuries aida@brandeis.edu

Emi Yamanaka

BU, Master Lecturer in Japanese Language pedagogy, interlanguage pragmatics, second language acquisition, technology in language learning yamanaka@bu.edu

Kikuko Yamashita

Brown, Emerita Assoc. Prof. of East Asian Studies Historical background of Buddhist writings used in Medieval temple schools kikuko_yamashita@brown.edu

Midori Yoshii

Albion College, Prof. of International Studies Reagan Administration's East Asian Policy myoshii@albion.edu

Anna M. Zielinska-Elliott

BU, Master Lecturer in Japanese; Director, BU Translation Initiative History of translation of Tanizaki's "Kagi" around the world aelliott@bu.edu

Eve K. Zimmerman

Wellesley, Prof. of Japanese Finished writing a book on girlhood and translation. I am also doing a translation of Nakagami Kenji's masterpiece Karekinada (1977) ezimmerm@wellesley.edu

(CG 9.24.25)